ADERANT | APPROACH FOR HEALTH CHECK

REVIEW OF WHOLE SYSTEM OR A SUB-PROCESS

A system health check offers a firm the opportunity of having its system set up reviewed, and gives reassurance that the system is supporting the business in the best way possible.

As a system develops, procedures and 'workarounds' may be no longer necessary or appropriate. The health check:

- Reviews existing procedures in the light of any new system functionality
- Ensures the 'fit' of the existing procedures and system set up is kept current
- Recommends potential procedural improvements based on changes in set up

Kestrel may look at the system as a whole or sub-processes.

A Kestrel consultant will work with the system accountant or an operational manager, and produce recommendations for improvements and efficiencies through changes in system set up and procedures.

KEY ACTIVITIES OF KESTREL CONSULTANT:

- Meet with system accountants and IT staff discuss to discuss upgrades and enhancements to the system
- Review system set up and parameters
- Discuss potential efficiencies with the appropriate manager or team leader
- Present recommendations to key decision makers
